

5374Mbps Notebook
Wireless Adapter Module

CF-AX210-M

|                     |                                                                                   |
|---------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Chipset             | Intel® Wi-Fi 6E AX210                                                             |
| Drive Free          | Not Support                                                                       |
| Wireless Standard   | IEEE802.11a/b/g/n/ac/ax                                                           |
| Wireless Frequency  | 2.4GHz : 574Mbps                                                                  |
|                     | 5.8GHz : 2400Mbps                                                                 |
|                     | 6GHz : 2400Mbps                                                                   |
| Bluetooth           | Bluetooth 5.3                                                                     |
| MU-MIMO             | Support                                                                           |
| Application         | Laptop                                                                            |
| Interface           | M.2                                                                               |
| Encryption          | WPA2*; WPA3*                                                                      |
| Product Size        | 30*22mm                                                                           |
| Support OS          | Microsoft* Windows 10*, Linux*                                                    |
| Working Environment | Working Temperature: 0℃~40℃                                                       |
|                     | Working Humidity: 50%-90% Non-condensing(in the environment of 25-35 degrees) |